The Big Sky Conference-member institutions are located in seven states that span from the Pacific Ocean to the Rocky Mountains and from the Canadian to the Mexican borders. The entire West Coast is now represented by the Big Sky with members in Washington, Oregon and California, and of the nine westernmost states, only two (Hawaii and Nevada) do not contain Big Sky members. League members can be found in Arizona, California, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

The name "Big Sky" originated in a novel written in 1947 by the late A.B. (Bud) Guthrie of Great Falls, Mont., titled The Big Sky. Jack Hollowell, former Montana advertising director, promoted the Big Sky theme for the Treasure State, and Harry Missildine of the Spokane Spokesman-Review called for the newly formed league to be named the Big Sky Conference in his column dated Feb. 20, 1963. Five days later, the name Big Sky was adopted by the six presidents of the league.

On July 1, 1995, Doug Fullerton became the fifth commissioner and was given the reins to lead the league into the changing world of athletics. Fullerton replaced Ron Stephenson, who retired after 14 years in the position. The first commissioner of the Big Sky was Jack Friel, who served from the league's inception until 1971. After Friel, John Roning directed the conference for six years until 1977, when Steve Belko assumed the role for five years.
