The screenshot shows the Graylog web interface for configuring a collector. A modal dialog titled "Create Variable ${user.BeatsInput}" is open, allowing the user to define a new variable. The dialog has three input fields: "Name" (containing "BeatsInput"), "Description (Optional)" (containing "IP and Port of our Beats Input"), and "Content" (containing "192.168.1.1:5044"). The "Content" field is highlighted with a red border. Below the "Content" field is a text prompt "Write your variable content". At the bottom of the dialog are "Cancel" and "Save" buttons. In the background, the "Collector Configuration" page is visible, showing the configuration name "filebeat-conf", a color selector, and a code editor with the following configuration:

```

3 fields_collector_node_id: ${sidecar.nodeName}
